SCOUTING

THE SHOPS with Sally

● Our husky fourteen-year-old Sam being a Scout in his own right, we took him along to help blaze trails. He had a lot of fun.

● The first place he insisted on scouting was the Daly City Theatre (we have a hunch that's his favorite form of scouting, anyway). James Cagney's "Oklahoma Kid" kept us both spellbound.

● After which, a glass of chocolate milk from the Mission Creamery to soothe our tingling nerves and so to bed.

● Not before we had heard an exciting announcement, however. It seems that Dean Schreiber is opening his service station at 6498 Mission street again. This is good news indeed.

● With the lumps all taken out of his mattress by the Daly City Mattress company, Sam is even more loathe than usual to leave his bed in the mornings. However, with the aid of some sizzling bacon from Robertson's Egg Store (14c for one-half pound, Swifts), we managed nicely.

● Then at the vital moment he ran out of toothpaste, and if it hadn't been for a bargain we picked up at Edwards yesterday (a 25c tube of Rexall Milk of Magnesia toothpaste for only 16c), we never would have set sail.

● Sam's mind still running to food, we soon found ourselves at the Cut-Rate Market buying one of their luscious fresh fruit combinations. While Sam took a professional interest in the 10-pound sack of flour selling for 30c (Scouts bake biscuits, it seems), we found some lovely ripe tomatoes at only 15c for 4 pounds.

● After which we were so pleased with ourselves that we took time out—Sam to go down to Jinx (his favorite hang-out lately), and ourselves to go up to the Daly City Beauty Shop (our favorite hang-out!)

● Meeting at Beeson Cleaners to discuss laundry prices for a large and active family (which prices we found very reasonable), Sam and Sally betook themselves to Byrne radio store to look again at Sam's heart's dearest desire—a sturdy little second-hand radio

Hundreds of Daly City People Plan To Attend S. M. Day at Fair

"Everybody's going to the Fair Sunday, San Mateo County Day," announced H. G. King today when he reported more than one thousand buttons had been sold in Daly City.

"And don't forget," he reminded, "you MUST wear your button to be admitted to the evening dance to be held at California ballroom for fair visitors from San Mateo county only. Buttons cannot be sold on Treasure Island, and persons not wearing buttons will not be admitted to the dance. If you do not have a button, be sure to purchase yours (only ten cents) when you board the car for the Fair Sunday morning."

Several hundred Daly Cityites are scheduled to participate in the program on the Island and a tremendous host of fair-goers are expected to troop along, according to recent reports. Many organizations from here are going to take part—Veterans, Native Daughters, Jefferson Union Hi Indians of Rhythm, Daly City Juvenile Drill team, Boy and Girl Scouts, and many others.

Transportation

Excellent transportation facilities are being arranged with special express street car service running directly from Daly City to the Ferry, and no increase in the regular 7 cent fare. Three cars will leave from Colma starting at 10 a. m. with five to ten minute intervals between their departures. Last car leaving Colma is expected to pull out at 10:15 a. m.

Six special express cars will start from the top of the hill. First car will leave about 10:15 a. m.; the last about 10:40 a. m. Passengers will be picked up as far down as Oliver street, then the cars will run straight through.

Program Events

The day on the island will be celebrated with an extensive musical and dancing program and special events. Miss Rose's Daly City Juvenile Drill team, uniformed and carrying a silk banner, and Jeff Hi Indians of Rhythm, directed by Dante P. Lembi, and other local entries, will be of particular local interest.

Starting at noon, county high school bands will march through outlying sections of the island and converge at the California State building. Uniformed bodies of various local and county organizations will march behind the bands.

Flag Raising

At 12:30 p. m., flag raising ceremonies will be held in front of California state building following sounding of colors by county bugle corps. The high school bands, massed, will play the national anthem.

The new San Mateo county flag, bearing the tree and plow seal of the board of supervisors, will be raised by Sons of the Legion. This is the first time an official flag of the county will be publicly raised.

Following the flag ceremonies, members of the board of supervi-

The Chief And The Bees

Police Chief A. L. Hilton has suddenly gone into the bee-keeping business—in a small way, of course. A huge swarm of bees alighted on Chief Hilton's car Wednesday. Making the most of the situation, the Chief hurriedly rounded up a box and fashioned a makeshift bee-hive. He then shooed the queen bee into the box and awaited results. Soon the bees started building wax cells in the hive, and some left in search of nectar.

Hilton's problem now, is getting the hive from the city hall parking lot to his own backyard without mishap.

New Border Print

There is a definite trend in favor of border prints. The patternings brought out this season are fascinating. The dress pictured shows how effectively designers work up these stunning new border prints. Here yellow, rose and light blue flowers are placed on a background of navy blue crepe with flattering results.

Rod and Gun Club Hold Masquerade

The Daly City Rod and Gun club's big Masquerade ball is scheduled for Saturday evening at Eagles hall. Johnny Dell's orchestra will furnish the music, prizes will be awarded for the best costumes, and a good time is promised young and old.

Receipts will be given to the Junior Game Patrol for the purchase of uniforms. Tickets are on sale at Henry Warshawski's and the DeLuxe Barber Shop. In charge of arrangements are George Wheeler, Louis Bianchini and Ed Moore.

"Household Help In 30 Minutes" Is Service Slogan

"Household help in 30 minutes," is the new slogan of the Domestic Placement division of the California State Employment service, according to Wade Sargent, manager of the San Mateo office. This short notice service has been designed and organized for the special benefit of housewives busy with household cleaning, garden making and all the various additional duties imposed by approaching summer.

Hourly Basis

"Believe it or not," Sargent said today, "competent help on an hourly basis can be provided the homemaker, or her husband in his duties about the yard and garden, within 30 minutes of a telephone call to the employment office."

Types of help available on short notice include women for cleaning, cooking and serving special dinners, washing and ironing, sewing and various other household activities; men for cleaning windows, waxing floors, gardening and odd jobs. These workers are experienced and competent and their references have been investigated carefully.

Short Jobs

"Of course, in hiring the more permanent types of domestic help, housewives naturally want to give more time to their selection, but where there are short jobs occuring in the midst of a busy day, the value of being able to secure workers within 30 minutes of the time the needs develop is an important feature in a well operated employment service."

The application files of the office were carefully combed to secure suitable lists of persons who could be depended upon to fill any need on short notice.

Terry Pin's Tips on

IMPROVING THE MIND

By FREDERIC A. BIRMINGHAM

© Consolidated News Features, Inc.—WNU Service.

THE mind, like real estate, should be constantly improved. But, setting out trees in the hair and digging sewers is no way to go about it.

The mind is a delicate, fragile thing, easily upset. A good hostess will always knock her glass of water over after a guest knocks his.

One way of improving the mind is to cultivate well educated friends with nice books. By borrowing the books, quite a nice library can be built up in the home.

If Socrates was so wise, what was he doing in a nightshirt all the time?

James Cagney Is 'Oklahoma Kid' In New D. C. Film

"The Oklahoma Kid," Warner Bros.' stirring cavalcade of America's westward march, starring James Cagney, is now showing at the Daly City theatre. Also featured in the cast are Humphrey Bogart, Rosemary Lane, Donald Crisp and Harvey Stephens.

It is against an altogether different type of background than is generally associated with Cagney that the tough yet charming young red-head displays in his new picture his inimitable gift for lusty, he-man drama.

This picture is laid in the wild and lawless days when the Indian Territory was being opened to settlement, and one of its most impressive scenes is the beginning of the famous land rush of 1893 in which some 30,000 homesteaders raced across country to stake out sites in newly opened Indian territory.

But, though the period and background are different from tures, Jimmy is essentially the same type of character as he has been in his biggest successes.

At the outset of the story, Jimmy is a young outlaw who has become famous as a sort of Robin Hood of the Southwest. He is blithely pursuing his devil-may-care existence when his highly respectable father is lynched as a result of a plot carried out by Humphrey Bogart—in this as vicious a scoundrel as he has ever played — and his henchmen. The rest of the story deals with his revenge.

The production was directed by Lloyd Bacon.

Second big feature on the new bill is "Made for Each Other," starring Carole Lombard and James Stewart.

A $750,000 exhibition of international horsemanship will be staged at the New York World's Fair.

Crocker PTA Changes Whist Time

The time of the whist for the benefit of the Life Membership fund to be given by Crocker P. T. A. at the Crocker school Friday evening, has been changed from 8:30 p. m. to 8 p. m. Friends and members are urged to support this affair, as the funds will all go for child welfare.

Mrs. Mildred Seiler and Mrs. Otha Kinsey represented Crocker at the seventeenth district presidents' meeting and program conference, Monday of this week.

The next regular meeting of Crocker P. T. A. will be held in Crocker school Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. This is the last meeting of the year. The budget for the year is to be presented for approval of the unit. Mrs. Agnes Prescott will read her report on the State convention C. C. P. T. Miss Smith's class has charge of the program for the day.

The Sew and Sew club is offering hand made articles for sale at this meeting, and will take orders for any of the articles on display.

Household Hints

By BETTY WELLS

IT'S inventory time, darlings. Time to ring your own front door-bell and take a stranger's view of the old home place. Have you given up your decorating ambitions because you have to keep on using the same old furniture? Tut, tut . . . all the more reason why you should have a clearage of scenery. A new background will make your old things seem like new.

Helen A. got quite hard boiled about her living room recently. Tried to take off her rose colored glasses of affection for old familiar things and size up her situation. Here's what she concluded:

Dingy tan walls, droopy scrim curtains, badly fitting drab cretonne slip covers, walnut furniture that wasn't bad, not bad at all, taupe broadloom rug that would take on the character of the room.

That was a challenge. She wasn't doing right by the dearly beloved furniture that had seen her through thick and thin.

She and her husband did a re-papering job—choosing a plain-ish pinkish-apricot wall paper that did wonders right off the bat. New white organdie curtains very full and with seven-inch ruffles Helen made herself—also slip-covered the old sofa in a new floral sateen with a dark red ground. The same material went on a pair of easy chairs.

Helen did an ingenious thing with the old lamps. They were nondescript—some of the bottle variety, some of pottery, some with metal bases; none distinguished at all. So she just up and painted them all in a flat surface turquoise blue. Then made ruffled petticoat shades in white organdie, added accessories in turquoise, and now is at work on two needlepoint footstool tops with white flowers and turquoise backgrounds.

If you don't think that was a transformation worth making, and would rather go right on getting more frayed and dowdy in a down at the heels room, don't let me interfere!

Combining Furniture Periods

How long since your living-room had a good doing-over? Yet you're probably already calling that 1936 car "the old bus" and the family is looking speculatively at the newer model automobiles. But we ask you—which matters most to the family background—the house or the car?

And you wouldn't be seen dead in a 1930 coat . . . now would you? (If you're not sure, refer to your kodak album). But curtains go out of style too, and lampshades get dated.

A little dissatisfaction with the house wouldn't be out of place. For most of us are content to rock along with homes that aren't up to the standards we maintain in dress, transportation, clubs, education. So look around and see if your place isn't due for a bit of perking up.

From the big winter furniture market in Chicago, where manufacturers show their new offerings and furniture dealers select the things they'll present in their stores during the coming months, we've gleaned several tidbits of interest to a lady with a house:

Marriages are back to the 1929 level.

This year of 1939 is expected to be a big replacement year. Because most of us actually do refurnish about every 10 years and the last peak year was 1929. The low ebb year in home furnishing buying was 1932.

Another white hope for furniture buying this year is the fact that marriages are back to the 1929 level after a drop, also lowest in 1932.

As for styles, here is a bird's eye view—Swedish modern will lead in the contemporary group for the simple reason that it is graceful and light with all its clean current lines. There will be a revival of the gay and jaunty peasant types of furniture. And early American furniture is due for a new lease on life what with many new and interesting colonial accessories turning up to refresh familiar colonial rooms.

MAGIC MADE EASY

COLOR SPOOLS

Several spools of colored thread are utilized in this trick. One spool is chosen while the magician's back is turned.

The magician receives the spool; gives it back without looking at it. He divulges the color.

BEADS of THREAD COLORS

The Secret: Each spool has a slightly loosened label. Each spool contains (in its hollow center) a bead the color of the thread. Lift label and let bead drop into hand. Keep bead to name the color of the thread.

in perfect condition. It may be had for something under a five-dollar bill—that is, unless Sam gets it first!

● For lunch Sam insisted on corned beef from Farmers Meat company (16c a pound). Then while he laughed heartily at the jokes in the H. H. Smith ad this week (see page 8), we found some delicious French head cheese for dinner tonight, and a ham shank for soup tomorrow.

● Afternoon found us stocking up for a busy week-end. Sam found some tempting imported sardines at Lucca Ravioli, (three for 25c), and a basket of peaches (at only 15c,) with which he plans to give his fellow scouts a real treat. Among the delicacies which we ourselves favored were imported dry mushrooms (99c lb.) and a pork roast (18c per lb.) for Sunday.

● Milo's Market was cause for more joy, with genuine baby spring lamb at only 24c a pound. There were some grand specials on White King, and some lovely crisp salad combinations. Sam satisfied his sweet tooth with a package of fresh marshmallows (one pound for only 10c), which he intends to toast over a campfire.

● So safely to bed, only to hear a suspicious creaking which was Sam in the kitchen. He says that raiding the ice-box is a real pleasure since we bought our new Frigidaire from A. M. Harrison!

The layman will learn (if he wishes) more about the atom than he has ever known before at the Science and Education exhibit of the New York World's Fair, where scientists will dramatically demonstrate modern methods of atomic research. Astronomy, microscopy and other branches of scientific inquiry will occupy prominent sections.

Cloque Organdy

From now on through the spring and summer season the world of fashion is destined to see myriads of ruffles and flounces. The latest trend is toward the new tiered silhouette. You will see this treatment not only in summery sheers but likewise in light woolens and silk surahs and crepes, for afternoon wear. The model pictured interprets this new tier silhouette to a nicety in a party frock made of lovely colorfully printed cloque organdy. If you have not already done so be sure to acquaint yourself with this exquisite summer fabric. It makes the most adorable dresses one can imagine.

The prettiest Indian girls in the country will be on view at the Cavalcade of Centaurs at the New York World's Fair. They now are being selected by their tribes.

Tax Association Reports On Costs

School costs per pupil in average daily attendance in the Jefferson elementary school district, (Daly City, Colma and Lawndale) totalled $78.51 for current expense alone for the school year 1937-38, according to a study of expenditures of the 180 largest elementary school districts in California, recently completed by California Taxpayers' association. This was considerably lower than the average cost throughout the state, which is $88.89.

Expenditures for the 1,241 pupils in average daily attendance in the elementary district during 1937-38 averaged $57.05 for teacher salaries, 32 cents for pupil transportation, and $21.14 for other current expense, making a total of $78.51 for current expense. In addition, the district spent an average of 76 cents per pupil in average daily attendance for capital outlays; $3.56 for bond interest, and $6.65 for bond redemption, the association found. Costs for high school districts will be released later.

Expenditures per pupil in average daily attendance for the forty-five districts in the same size group (using the median or mid-point as the average) were $53.56 for teacher salaries in 1937-38, $1.16 for pupil transportation costs, $21.50 for general expense, $5.05 for bond interest, and $7.62 for bond redemption payments, the association stated.

Brazil's varied products will be prominent in the foreign section of the New York World's Fair. Goat and chamois pelts, wax fruit, rose oil, rubber and valuable tropical woods sliced into thin leaves of veneer will be among the displays.

For Bridge Prize

Looking for something distinctive and out-of-the-ordinary to give as a bridge prize? Here is a suggestion in the way of a gift sure to be welcomed by your most fastidious bridge-winning guest—a "set" of dainty receptacles that will keep dainty lingerie neckwear and handkerchiefs and household linens fresh and unwrinkled in closets and dresser drawers. These most practical as well as attractive novelties are made of composition board covered in handsome washable white leatherette with a wide silk elastic band holding the top and bottom pieces (between which your lingerie "pretties" are placed) together. Note how pridefully the lady pictured is laying one of her most treasured handkerchiefs between the protective covers of these dainty cases. This "hanky" is a perfect gem in that it has been especially designed by Merlene, a young girl who directs her artistry to creating flower-patterned handkerchiefs.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

LITTLE MITE STEALS AN EGG

IF PETER RABBIT could have known how Reddy Fox had been sitting so close to little Mite, the lost baby of Danny Meadow Mouse, that his tail was over him and that he did not know it at all, Peter would simply have laughed in his sleeve instead of being angry and anxious as he saw Reddy coming in his direction. Not that Peter was afraid for himself. Oh, my, no! He had seen Reddy in plenty of time and he knew that his long legs would take him to safety. What made him anxious was the thought that Reddy would be sure to poke around and try to find out what Peter had been doing.

Now, you know Peter had been trying to find the lost baby of Danny Meadow Mouse so as to take him back home, and what he was afraid of now was that Reddy's keen little black nose might find what Peter's eyes had been unable to find. So Peter didn't hurry away as fast as he would have otherwise. In fact, Peter took chances. He actually tried to tempt Reddy to chase him so that he might lead him away from that place. He made faces at Reddy and called him names. But Reddy had found out from one of the Merry Little Breezes, who had been thoughtless, the secret of the lost little Meadow Mouse, and he paid no attention whatever to Peter. Instead he began to run this way and that way, with his nose to the ground, sniffing and snuffing for some trace of Meadow Mouse, and all the time he was going farther and farther from where little Mite was.

So he ran until he could no longer hear the angry voice behind him.

Now, just as soon as little Mite thought it was safe to move, he began to run in the opposite direction. He wanted to get just as far as he could from that dangerous neighborhood. It was hard work pushing through the grass, for there were no little paths there, but he was too frightened to mind the hard work and kept right on. One thing he had learned, and that was the wisdom of keeping perfectly still when an enemy was near and hadn't yet seen him. It was one of the most important lessons he would ever learn, though he didn't know it at the time.

After what seemed to him like a very long time he came to a tiny path. It wasn't as good a path as the private little paths that Danny Meadow Mouse makes, but still it was a real little path, and, of course, that meant easier going. He hurried along it and then quite unexpectedly he came to a little house hidden in the grass. He stopped short and eyed it suspiciously. It looked something like his own dear home in the middle of the pile of old cornstalks, for it was made of dried grasses. It wasn't quite so big and it had no roof. Little Mite looked this way and looked that way. He couldn't see anyone about, so he crept up and peeped into the little grass house. Inside were four little, speckled, shiny things. They were the queerest things he had ever seen and he didn't know just what to make of them.

With another hasty look to see that all was safe, little Mite crept in and touched one of the queer, speckled things. It was very smooth and rolled a little when he touched it. He wondered if it was good to eat. The only way to find out was to bite it and find out. At first it slipped away from his sharp little teeth. He clutched it in both hands and tried again. This time his teeth went through, and inside was something simply delicious! He sucked it all out and it seemed to him that he never had tasted anything quite so good. You see, he was very hungry.

He had just reached for another of the little speckled things when without any warning at all something sharp hit him on the head. "Ouch!" cried little Mite and started to run. And then it seemed as if a hundred enemies were striking at him from all sides, and the air was filled with shrill, angry cries. Somehow he couldn't fight back. All he could do was to run and run. At last the terrible blows stopped. But little Mite didn't. He wanted to get as far away as he could. So he ran until he could no longer hear the angry voice behind him. It was the voice of Little Friend, the Song Sparrow, for it was Little Friend's nest that he had found and one of Little Friend's eggs that he had [illegible]

Helpful Tips For The Busy Housewife

Meat Dishes For Busy Days

"The world is so full of a number of things" especially in springtime, that instead of being "happy as kings," we are more apt to be busy as bees. What with the garden to plant and weed, the remnants of housecleaning to look after and spring sewing to finish, just where are we going to get the time to cook meals for the family? With all the energy we burn up, dashing from one thing to another, good nourishing food is as essential now as at any other time of the year.

The homemaker who is on to her job meets the situation by having at her fingers' tips, so to speak, a number of satisfying meals which take very little preparation. Either they are quickly cooked dishes, or—and this may seem contradictory—they can be cooked slowly and for a long time. In that case, almost the entire dinner is cooked in one dish, and it requires little watching. It may be brought to the table in the dish in which it is cooked.

Here are main dishes for easy meals, suggested by Inez S. Wilson, home economist.

Beef Birds and Carrots
2 pounds round steak
6 small carrots
1 cup bread crumbs, sifted
1 tablespoon milk
1 egg
3 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper

Have round steak cut thin in pieces suitable for individual servings. Season with salt and pepper. Place a carrot in each piece and roll. Fasten securely with string or toothpicks. Roll in egg beaten with milk and fine bread crumbs. Brown in butter. When nicely browned add 1 cup water and cook in slow oven until rolls are done, about one hour and a half.

Place potatoes in the oven to bake. Serve with melted butter and a dash of paprika.

A combination fresh vegetable salad and an easy dessert of strawberries, or stewed fruits or rhubarb, with bread and beverage completes an easy and appetizing meal.

Spanish Lamb Slices
6 neck slices of lamb
6 slices onion
6 rings green pepper
¼ cup rice
6 slices tomato

Season neck slices and brown in a little lard. Place in a roaster or casserole and on each slice arrange a slice of onion, one of tomato and a pepper ring filled with rice which has been partially cooked. Pour ½ cup water around the meat. Cover and cook in a moderate oven (350° F.) for one hour.

Milk Dishes Children Like

Milk is Nature's "most nearly perfect food" . . . rich in food elements and vitamins necessary for good nutrition. Yet many mothers find it difficult to induce their children to take their daily milk as "plain milk" or even to devise dishes containing milk that prove pleasing.

Children seldom refuse desserts. Here are two recipes calling for liberal quantities of milk, that I am sure will be eaten. No eggs are needed. No baking or boiling. Make the desserts in the morning and serve at the evening meal—if you can keep them hidden from the children that long.

Golden Glow Rennet Custard
1 rennet tablet
1 tablespoon cold water
1 pint milk
7 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-3 cup apricot pulp
6 stewed or canned apricots
1 egg white

Cut the apricots into strips and divide among dessert glasses. Make rennet custard according to directions in package. Pour rennet custard immediately over the apricots. Let stand until firm—about 10 minutes. Then chill in refrigerator. When ready to serve, beat egg white until stiff. Add 4 tablespoons of the sugar and apricot pulp. Beat thoroughly together. Put apricot whip on top of each dish of rennet custard and decorate with bits of apricot.

Orange Fluff Rennet Custard
1 package orange rennet powder
1 pint milk
½ cup whipping cream
¼ cup sugar
1 large or 2 small navel oranges

Make rennet custard according to directions on package. Then chill in refrigerator. When ready to serve top with whipped cream, and across cream, place sections of orange. If orange is large, use 4 half sections; if small, use 4 whole sections for each dish of dessert.

Marriage licenses were issued in San Francisco this week to Paul Guisti, 24, Colma, and Ida Tognozzi, 22, 209 Anderson street; and to Andrew Smith, 23, 1679 Haight street, and Eloise Griffith, 19, Daly City.

Yoke and Pleats

Pleating continues to add infinite charm to the majority of print silk dresses. Here is a fashionable Persian design silk print in bayadere striped treatment. The silk for this attractive afternoon frock has cool lime green and black as its color scheme. Novel pleating lends interest to the skirt front. The patent leather belt of corselet interpretation repeats the colors of the print. Notice the waist is made with a yoke which is a styling greatly emphasized this season.

Linoleum, once limited in function to covering floors, has achieved a niche in exterior decoration. When the artist, Domenico Mortellito was commissioned to adorn the Academy of Sport building at the New York World's Fair, he selected this material in which to execute his murals.
